

ALPHABETICAL REFERENCE LIST FOR OLD TESTAMENT APOCRYPHA AND PSEUDEPIGRAPHA

Wayne Grudem*

This list attempts to give at least one text and one translation for every Old Testament apocryphal and pseudepigraphal work which is likely to be encountered by anyone doing Old Testament or New Testament research,¹ and also to list an introduction, an estimated date² and (for Greek works) a concordance.³

This is not intended as an exhaustive list of texts, translations and studies. It is simply a reference list to the most conveniently located texts and translations, and a selective list of a few recent studies. It is intended as a preliminary aid to research in an important area that all but specialists find quite confusing.

Major entries are found under the name of the person given in the title of the work (e. g., "Testament of Abraham" is listed under "Abraham"). All other likely variations of the title are then included in the single alphabetical list, so that any work can be found quickly no matter how many different titles it might have.

Abbreviations:

Charles, I and II

R. H. Charles, The Apocrypha and Pseudepigrapha of the Old Testament; Vol. I: Apocrypha; Vol. II: Pseudepigrapha (Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1913, reprinted 1963). Introductions and English translations of major texts. (Should be used in connection with more recent translations where available; note especially RSV and NEB apocrypha.)

Charlesworth

J. H. Charlesworth, "De Pseudepigraphorum Studio," in 1972 Proceedings of the International

*Wayne Grudem is assistant professor of theological studies at Bethel College, St. Paul, Minnesota.

¹I am grateful to John Hughes and Dr. Richard Bauckham, my former colleagues at Tyndale House in Cambridge, England, for much help in compiling this list. I also wish to thank Professor C. F. D. Moule for calling my attention to the Cave of Treasures and Professor Bruce Metzger for enabling me to locate 5 Maccabees.

²Dates are taken from Eissfeldt unless otherwise noted. Since several of Eissfeldt's dates depend on an assumed second-century-BC date for Daniel, it is best to read his introductions and make one's own evaluations.

³The Hatch-Redpath concordance to the Septuagint includes the apocrypha, but this is such a standard reference work that I have not noted it for the individual apocryphal books.

Organization for Septuagint and Cognate Studies and the SBL Pseudepigrapha Seminar, ed. R. A. Kraft (SBL, 1972), pp. 129 ff. A recent report of research. Watch for more.

- Denis A. M. Denis, Introduction aux Pseudépigraphes Grecs d'A. T. (Leiden: Brill, 1970). Most complete, detailed introduction.
- Eissfeldt O. Eissfeldt, The Old Testament: An Introduction. Tr. P. R. Ackroyd (Oxford: Blackwell, 1965). Pages 571-637 have introductions to all the works in Charles' Apocrypha and Pseudepigrapha. Very helpful.
- Wahl C. A. Wahl, Clavis Librorum Veteris Testamenti Apocryphorum Philologica (Graz, Austria: Akademische Druck- und Verlagsanstalt, 1972). Part II has new concordances to several Greek pseudepigrapha.

Date: 2nd c. BC.

(Ethiopic Book of Enoch: see 1 Enoch)

(Ezekiel, Greek Apocrypha of: see "Works Not Listed," below)

Ezra, numbering system:

Notes: (a) The name Esdras is the Latin name for Ezra (which accounts for part of the confusion); (b) the names 1 Ezra, 2 Ezra, and 3 Ezra are not used; (c) books are referred to by the English title unless otherwise specified; the Latin Vulgate titles are given here only to show why 4 Ezra begins numbering at 4.

English titles:	Latin Vulgate titles (not normally used):
Ezra (in OT)	1 Esdras
Nehemiah (in OT)	2 Esdras

1 Esdras
 (in Apocrypha) 3 Esdras
 2 Esdras or 4 Ezra 4 Esdras

(both names are used but 4 Ezra is preferred: see 4 Ezra, below)

Note: 2 Esdras in Rahlfs, LXX Vol. I = Hebrew Ezra and Nehemiah; LXX 2 Esdras 1-10 = Hebrew Ezra 1-10; and LXX 2 Esdras 11-23 = Hebrew Nehemiah 1-13

5 Ezra (NT Apocrypha: see 5 Ezra, below) =
 4 Ezra, chapters 1—2

6 Ezra (NT Apocrypha; see 6 Ezra, below) =
 4 Ezra, chapters 15—16

(1, 2, 3 Ezra: names are not used; for 1 Esdras, see Esdras)

4 Ezra (Syriac, Latin, etc.; no Greek) =

2 Esdras; = (chapters 3-14) Apocalypse of Ezra (Ceriani), a Syriac work, but this is different from Apocalypse of Ezra (Tischendorf), a Greek work; = (chapters 1-2) 5 Ezra (see 5 Ezra, below); = (chapters 15-16) 6 Ezra (see 6 Ezra, below)

Text: (Syriac) A. M. Ceriani, Monumenta Sacra et Profana, V, pp. 44-111.

Text: (Latin) Fritzsche, Libri Apocryphi Vet. Test. (1871), pp. 590-639; Léon Gry, Les Dires prophétiques d'Esdras (Paris, 1938), 2 vols.

Trans.: Charles, II, pp. 561 ff.

Trans. and commentary: J. M. Myers, I and II Esdras; Anchor Bible (Garden City, N. Y.; Doubleday, 1974). Includes 5 & 6 Ezra.

Intro.: Eissfeldt, p. 624.

Date: 80-100 AD.

5 Ezra: NT Apocrypha: see Hennecke, NT Apocrypha II, pp. 689 ff. = chapters 1—2 of 4 Ezra (but not printed in Charles, II)

6 Ezra: NT Apocrypha: see Hennecke, NT Apocrypha II, pp. 689 ff. = chapters 15-16 of 4 Ezra (but not printed in Charles, II)

(Ezra, Apocalypse of [Ceriani]: see 4 Ezra, chapters 3-14)

Ezra, Apocalypse of (Tischendorf): Greek =

Apocalypse of Esdras (Tischendorf), but not the same as Apocalypse of Ezra (Ceriani), a Syriac work

 Text: C. Tischendorf, Apocalypses Apocryphae (Leipzig, 1866), pp. 24-33.
 Trans.: Ante-Nicene Christian Library, vol. 16: Apocryphal Gospels, Acts and Revelations, trans. A. Walker (Edinburgh, T. & T. Clark, 1870), pp. 468-476.

Zephaniah, Apocalypse of: Coptic, with Greek fragments

Text and Trans: G. Steindorf, Die Apokalypse des Elias, eine unbekannte Apokalypse, und Bruchstücke der Sophonias-Apokalypse (Leipzig, 1899), pp. 110-113, 169-170; Greek fragments: see Denis under "Works Not Listed," below.

WORKS NOT LISTED: If a work does not appear on this list, the following reference materials should be helpful.

1. For an introduction to other fragmentary works, see Denis, Introduction aux Pseudépigraphes Grecs d'A. T. (Leiden: Brill, 1970), pp. 123 ff.; for texts of these works, see M. Black, Apocalypsis Henochi Graeca; A. M. Denis, Fragmenta Pseudepigraphorum quae supersunt graeca (Leiden: Brill, 1970).

The Greek fragments included by Denis are from the following works:

Ahikar, History and Maxims of	Joseph, Prayer of (= Oratio Joseph)
Baruch, Syriac Apocalypse of	Jubilees, Book of
Eldad and Modad, Book of	Manasseh, Prayer of (= Oratio Manasseh)
Elijah, Apocalypse of	Moses, Assumption of
4 Esdras, Apocalypse of	Pseudo-Heraclitus, 4th and 7th Letters of
Ezekiel, Greek Apocrypha of	Pseudo-Phocylides, Sentences of
Isaiah, Martyrdom of	Zephaniah, Apocalypse of
Jannes and Mambre, Book of the Penitence of

2. Other OT pseudepigrapha mentioned by ancient writers but now lost are discussed in M. R. James, The Lost Apocrypha of the OT (London: SPCK, 1920).

3. Qumran materials are not included here. The most recent bibliographical guide is J. Fitzmyer, Dead Sea Scrolls: Major Publications and Tools for Study (SBL, 1975). See also a useful list of all manuscripts published to 1972, with abbreviations, in JJS 24 (1973), pp. 74-83. A brief summary of Qumran findings to 1973 is in BA 36/4 (December, 1973), pp. 110-148.

Eissfeldt, pp. 637 ff., has an introduction to apocryphal and pseudepigraphal writings found at Qumran.

4. For other Hebrew literature not listed here, see M. Bittenwieser, Outline of the Neo-Hebraic Apocalyptic Literature (Cincinnati, 1901); also The Jewish Encyclopedia, I, pp. 675 ff.
